

New Zealand Christmas Bush

With a masses of brilliant-red coloured flowers which bloom from Spring to Summer, the New Zealand Christmas Bush's fluffy flowers look stunning against its silvery-green leaves. Able to be trained into a small tree or trimmed to form a hedge, this versatile plant makes an excellent addition to small street verge locations. Enjoying full-sun and regular watering when young, this species develops into a hardy drought-tolerant plant once established.

 Botanic name	Metrosideros thomasi
 Origin	New Zealand
 Typical height	3-5m
 Typical width	5m
 Foliage Type	Evergreen
 Leaf	Soft green and long turning to dark green
 Bark	Woody
 Flowers	Red and brush-shaped
 Fruit Pod	Brown capsule

